FORMER STUDENT SHOT TO DEATH

Funeral Service Will Be Held
Saturday for William M.
Miller, Cadet at Texas Aviation School

William McClure Miller, 25 year's old, former university student, died Monday afternoon, February 20, at the Fort Sam Houston hospital, San Antonio, Texas. Cadet McClure was found unconscious, lying in his automobile, with a bullet wound in his left temple. A gun was found by his side.

"Billy" Miller, as he was known on the campus, was registered in the College of Engineering and was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He left the university the spring semester of 1929, and later went to San Antonio, Texas, where he entered the flying service at Kelly field. He was to have graduated Wednesday but was held over until the next class to complete his training, delayed because of an ear infection. He is the son of the late Dr. W. M. Miller, Millersburg, and a graduate of Millersburg Military Institute.

The theory that Miller committed suicide has been abandoned as the police are seeking a man who is said to have been seen running from the place where the cadet was found.

The cadet's mother, Mrs. W. M. Miller, a teacher at the University of Maryland, arrived Wednesday morning at the home of Major and Mrs. Baffington Muri Station near Lexington. A brother, Hart Miller, left Sunday morning for San Antonio, and will accompany the body back to Kentucky. Before leaving Texas a military funeral service will be held. Regular funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of Major Baffington. Burial will be in the Millersburg cemetery.

NOTICE, STUDENTS

Any students, men or women, who are interested in assisting in the construction of burlesque animals, and costume-making for the Y. W. C. A. all-campus amateur circus, are asked to report to the Y. W. C. A. office in the basement of the Administration building, at any time Friday or Saturday.

Complete Cast Of New Guignol Play Rehearsed

Woodson Knight, Horace Miner Have Leading Roles In Goldsmith Comedy

The two leading male roles in "She Stoops to Conquer," the play by Oliver Goldsmith which will be presented at the Guignol theater the week of March 14, will be taken by Woodson Knight and Horace Miner, according to the complete cast of the drama, announced Wednesday by Frank Fowler, director of the campus little theater.

Caroline Speyer and Emily Hardin will enact the leading female parts. The complete cast as announced by Director Fowler:

Marlowe, Woodson Knight; Hastings, Horace Miner; Tony, Mickey Maguire; Mr. Hardcastle, C. Parry Kraatz; Kate, Carolyn Speyer; Constance, Emily Hardin; Mrs. Hardcastle, Jane Ratchford; Digory, Sam Manly; Roger, Eddie Hertzger; Jeremy, Morton Webb; Dolly, Elizabeth Redd; and Charles Marlowe, Wayne Haffler.

Three of the actors, Woodson Knight, Horace Miner, and Parry Kraatz, are familiar figures with Guignol patrons, all having appeared in important roles in little theater presentations during this and previous seasons. The remaining members of the cast are more or less new to Guignol players, but have had experience in amateur dramatic work with other groups.

"She Stoops to Conquer," is a classic 18th century comedy. The making of the costumes of the Empire period which will be worn are in charge of Virginia Boyd. Crutcher and his crew of stage hands will construct the set.

Delay in completing the cast for the play was caused by the resignation of several members of the cast originally announced and the difficulty in finding actors suitable to take the parts, according to Director Fowler. Rehearsals with the final personnel in attendance began this week, however, allowing an interlude of a little more than a week following the successful run and one-night repeat performance of "Berkeley Square."

Gym Annex

The annual state high school debate will be held at the university March 29 and 30, according to a statement issued by Prof. Louis Clifton of the university Extension department.

Eliminating contests will be conducted at the various high schools throughout the state to determine three teams to participate in the debate tournament to be held at the university.

The subject of the debates will be connected with unemployment insurance. This subject was used last year in inter-collegiate debates by the university debate squad.

R. O. T. C. Sponsors Will Be Presented at Military Ball

Featuring the presentation of newly-elected co-ed R. O. T. C. sponsors, the recently-named cadet officers, and the formal pledging exercises of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, the annual Military ball will be held tonight in the Alumni gymnasium. Music will be by the Blue and White orchestra, and entertainment will be continuous from 9 until 1 o'clock.

Generally considered by the R. O. T. C. unit as the outstanding dance of the social calendar, the ball will be attended by cadets of the advanced military corps in full dress regalia. For other students the dress will be formal. Military splendor will be the note of the evening.

The gym will be decorated for the affair by the pledges of Scabbard and Blade under the direction of C. O. Wallace. Red, white and blue streamers, American flags and programs in the national colors will enhance the patriotic spirit of the function.

Eight no-break dances, two of which will be extras, are scheduled for the evening's entertainment. The first extra no-break, a Scabbard and Blade special, will follow immediately the pledging exercises of the fraternity and will be in honor of Captain Clyde Grady, who has served as faculty advisor for the local chapter for the last three years. Cosmopolitan Club Presents Program at Y. W. C. A. Vespers

The Cosmopolitan club, campus organization for foreign-born students of the university, had charge of the weekly Y. W. C. A. vesper services held at 6:45 o'clock, Tuesday night, February 23, in the recreation room of Patterson hall.

Nikolai Chepeleff, Russia, president of the club, presided. In his talk he stressed the smallness of the world community today, and the impossibility of being world citizens with narrow nationalistic outlooks. He said also that the foreign students at the university are willing at any time to attempt to answer questions regarding their native countries and urged the American students to feel free to interrogate them.

Roger Capron, France, made an interesting talk, with Eugene Thompson acting as interpreter. He gave a brief comparison of French university life with that in America. Though pointing out many likenesses, he stated that French student life is not nearly so gay or complex. There is a more studious atmosphere; there are no sororities and fraternities, but dances are held in club houses of the community.

Hal D. Bencomo spoke briefly on Spanish songs and dances popular among the young folk of Spain. He sang "La Paloma" and a Spanish mountain song.

Howard Baker, born in China of America parents, described life at Shanghai University, stating that intramural athletics are almost as popular there as in America. The social life, he said, is very similar.

The program was brought to a close with two violin numbers by Tzvetan I. Nedelkoff, Bulgaria, accompanied by Lois E. Neal.

WASHINGTON ALUMNI MEET

Two members of the university faculty while in Washington, D. C. for national conventions, addressed members of the Washington University of Kentucky Alumni club at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday, February 23, at the University club in Washington. Dean Sarah G. Blanding, who was attending the National Association of Deans of Women, spoke of "The University of the Past and Present," and Dean W. S. Taylor, of the College of Education, spoke of "The University of Kentucky of the Future."

Dean Blanding Tells Reporters Of Recent Trips

Sidelights on National Political Issues Given by Dean

"Politically, people are very reticent about who is to be the next Democratic presidential candidate," Dean Sarah G. Blanding told a Kentuckian reporter yesterday, when interviewed in regard to her recent trip to Washington, D. C.

Dean Blanding attended the meeting of the National Association of Deans of Women, which was held in Washington February 17-22.

"Most people concede that Herbert Hoover will represent the Republican party, although neither he nor Mrs. Hoover is particularly popular with the Washington populace," Miss Blanding continued. "Many people speak of Roosevelt as the most likely winner of the Democratic nomination—but there is also talk of Smith and Baker."

The deans were guests at the White House Friday afternoon, where they were received by Mrs. Hoover. They were also tea guests of the Washington branch of the American Association of University Women at the national club house on I street.

"While I was in Washington, it was my privilege to talk with many citizens who are well-informed on present vital issues," the dean said. "It was pleasing to note how enthusiastically the people as a whole have accepted President Hoover's appointment of Judge Cardozo to the Supreme Court of the United States."

Miss Blanding commented on the festive appearance of the city of Washington on Monday, with its buildings flying flags in honor of the birthday of George Washington. She described the city as a splendid monument to the foresight and planning of the first President.

Among the notable speakers at the meeting of the deans were Rabbis Samuel H. Goldenson, Pittsburgh, who at one time was a resident of Lexington, Miss. Sorabji, president of the Federation of University Women, Calcutta, India, spoke on "Squaring the Circle," and Miss Blanding herself as particularly interested in Miss Sorabji's remarks, as the latter is in sympathy with the English government in its management of India, and is opposed to Gandhi.

U. K. Rifle Teams Win All Matches

The Best Scores of the Season are Fired by Riflemen

Shooting the best scores of the current season, the various rifle teams of the university won every match in which they were engaged, according to Capt. W. A. Cunningham, coach of the teams.

The varsity team composed of ten men, scored 3711 points out of a possible 4000 to win over four opponents, the University of Iowa, the University of Idaho, Lafayette University, and N. C. State College. Perry, with 383 out of a possible 400, was high man, while Florence and Wachs with 380 were second.

The Varsity five man team composed of Florence, Parrish, Wachs, Perry, and Wallace, scored 1895 points out of a possible 2,000 to outshoot their four opponents, by an average of well over a hundred points.

The R. O. T. C. team outscored their four opponents and won all of their matches with a score of 3689 points out of a possible 4000. The R. O. T. C. team led the National Rifle association for the week ending February 20, by averaging 181.2 points per man. Their nearest competitor averaged 178.2. Their score of 906 points led the nearest opponent by more than 50 points.

Although the Fifth Corps Area matches have not yet been completed, nor have the scores of the various competing schools been learned, Captain Cunningham has hopes of repeating the feat of two years ago when the team won the Southern conference meet. Their score was 7486 compares favorably with that made by the winning team of 1931.

Play-by-play accounts of all Southern Conference tournament games in which the Wildcats play will be broadcast by the Kentucky theater, beginning Friday. The Ben All theater will broadcast the scores at intervals.

Kentucky's Wildcats, confident of their ability to redeem themselves, are once more in Atlanta, Georgia, where they await the starter's whistle for their first tourney foe, Tulane's Green Wave, scheduled to start at 4 o'clock today.

The ten players and nine others in the party were the first of the 16 teams to arrive in the Pinnacle City, early yesterday morning. According to advance dope, they are expected to be among the last to leave. All members of the team are in the best of health and spirits, with the possible exception of "Aggie" Sale, who still suffers slightly from his recent attack of flu.

NINE CANDIDATES ARE NOMINATED

One Man, One Woman Student Will Be Selected in Popularity Contest Being Sponsored by 1932 Kentuckian

Nine students have been nominated as candidates in the popularity contest being sponsored by the circulation department of the 1932 Kentuckian. One man student and one woman student will be selected as winners in the contest and will be given full-page pictures in the annual, College Humor magazine has promised to reproduce them in its Hall of Collegiate Fame section.

Thursday, March 3, has been selected as the day on which graduating seniors may cast votes for the candidates. Additional time also is being given for seniors to submit petitions in addition to the nine which have been turned in. Each must be signed by 15 students.

Selection of winners of the contest will be based on the number of votes cast by purchasers of the 1932 Kentuckian before March 7. Each graduating senior who has paid his senior dues and each purchaser of the annual will be given 15 votes. Seniors may cast their votes from 9 until 5 o'clock Thursday, March 3, in the Kentuckian office on the second floor of the Administration building.

The candidates:
George M. Bickel, Alpha Tau Omega; Ralph Kercheval, Delta Tau Delta; Bennie Martin, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Sara Bethel, Delta Zeta; Jane Dyer, Alpha Gamma Delta; Elizabeth Jones, Kappa Delta; Mildred Nelson, Delta Delta Delta; Mina Pate, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Muriel Wiss, Zeta Tau Alpha.

In order that accurate record of all votes may be kept, sales managers have been appointed by the sororities and fraternities and orders for Kentuckians may be given to them. Votes for the candidates may be cast in the Kentuckian office and records of the votes will be available after the contest.

In connection with the sales campaign, silver loving cups are being offered to the sorority and fraternity which sell the largest number of Kentuckians and a cup is being offered to the individual who has the largest number of sales. Cups are on display this week at the Tavern.

New Art Exhibition Will Open March 1

Following the exhibition of self-portraits which ends Monday, February 29, the art department will present a unique exhibition of the work of Miss Ruth Reeves, well-known painter and textile designer. The presentation will begin March 1 at the Art Center and will continue until March 25, according to an announcement made by Professor Rannells of the art department.

The exhibition will include not only Miss Reeves' most recent work in cotton prints but also a group of paintings and drawings from which the artist evolved the motifs for the designs. Miss Reeves' work, according to Professor Rannells, shows the close relationship between the fine and applied arts, fields commonly considered as widely divergent. For this reason the exhibit should be of especial interest. According to Professor Rannells, the work is modern, good in color tone, and reflects the intellectual attitude of the artist.

The exhibit was assembled through the courtesy of the Cotton Textile Institute and is being circulated as a traveling exhibition by the Art Center of New York City.

The Tulane team was the next to arrive in Atlanta, and Coach Rupp and Coach George Rody, Tulane, former team mates at the University of Kansas, went into a conference and talked over old times. Rody does not use the same system as is used by the Wildcats, but Rupp warned his boys before they left that Rody intends to whip him just for "old time's sake."

Yesterday afternoon the Kentucky team worked out on the Atlanta high school floor. Rupp stressed foot throws and goal shooting, and the remainder of the drill was spent on light floor work. The team wound up its preparation with a show and headed for bed in the Georgian Terrace at 10 o'clock.

Virginia vs. Alabama
Georgia and Alabama start the ball a-rolling at 1 o'clock today and two more games follow before Kentucky takes the floor against Tulane. All of the games are to be played in the Atlanta auditorium, as in previous years, and a play-by-play report of all Kentucky games will be sent to Lexington by Neville Dunn, sports editor of The Lexington Herald.

Just before Coach Rupp left Lexington, he was asked just how he thought the team would hold out. He appeared thoughtful a moment and then said that "the longer we stay in the tournament the stronger we will get." It was apparent to any one in the gymnasium that the boys were sick and dead on their feet against Vanderbilt, but he explained that DeMoisey and Sale are well on the way to recovery and a few days would see them in the pink again.

"I am sorry we lost the Vanderbilt game because I wanted to give the university its first undefeated team to compete in the Southern Conference tournament," Coach Rupp said.

"I don't regret it personally, but I do regret that the boys were denied an undefeated season by the slim margin of one point. They practiced hard all year, and I wish they might have come through for their sake and for the sake of the student body," Coach Rupp continued.

"We have a good chance to pull through," were Coach Rupp's last words as the train pulled out of the station for Atlanta.

This year is the eighth year Kentucky has participated in the Southern Conference tournament since it was inaugurated in 1921. And it was in 1921, as a S. I. A. A. participant, that the Cats won the crown for the last time. Each year since that time they have been a serious threat but have never managed to win the four games necessary. They are given first consideration this year by virtue of their 14 straight victories.

Finalists Last Year
Last year, Rupp's first with the Wildcats, was a most successful one, for the Cats went to the finals, where they lost by one point in the last 30 seconds of play, when "Boney" Berger of Maryland sank a shot from mid floor.

Worried to Atlanta last night that Burton Shipley, Maryland coach is ill and might not be able to attend the tourney, Maryland tied with Kentucky for conference lead, is one of the few teams in the tourney, and if the dope is right, will meet Kentucky in the finals as they did last year.

A number of Kentucky fans expected to leave Lexington last night for Atlanta. Among them were Coach Harry Gamage and Prof. Enoch Graham, who will attend the Southern Conference football meeting at Atlanta.

FACULTY BASKETEERS

Skeptical students, at times, inclined to doubt the usefulness of certain professors, or even of professors in general, must bow, at last, in grateful tribute. In its brilliant success of Tuesday evening, the faculty of the University of Kentucky proved conclusively that in the last analysis it has the best interests of the student body at heart.

When the need arose for the immediate reinforcement of the Student Loan fund, various solutions presented themselves. Donations were manifestly out of the question, in view of the financial situation of students in general. To require the students' contribution of time and effort in an organized attempt to gain funds also would have been difficult and most likely unsuccessful.

It remained for the faculty to redeem the situation. They rose to the occasion and accomplished thereby a two-fold result: the addition to the Student Loan fund of some $432 and the providing the student body with an evening of hilarious entertainment. So complete was the success of the undertaking in every way, that we are led to suggest that it become an annual event. However that may be, in this case, at least, the students are indebted to the faculty for their friendly and helpful action on an outstanding student problem.

HELL WEEK

Soon, Greek letter organizations of the University of Kentucky will launch into that period of feverish and furtive activity known as Hell week. The social orders, although cognizant of university disapprobation of the major initiation practices—road work and hazing—continue their violation and most likely will for some time to come, unless the university or the national fraternity officers employ more forceful measures than they have up to the present time.

The savage does not easily lay aside his club. It is his insignia, his mark of superiority, his rank of manhood. It distinguishes him from the users of the sling; it emphasizes his pride in his clan. Just so is the college man with his paddle. He cherishes it and idealizing the symbol from the lone viewpoint of his tribal-like isolation cannot appreciate nor understand the effect it has on the attitude of the outside world.

As the overemphasis of Hell week by fraternity men throughout the country has brought upon their organizations much of the calumny with which this particular note of college life is regarded, many of the national Greek letter fraternities have expressed favor of its abolishment. From time to time the very nature of activity—boisterous and foolhardy—has led to serious consequences. Although the publicity these occasional unfortunate occurrences have received is not indicative of their general happening, the reputation thus acquired by a few students is delegated to all.

A day is coming when all hazing practices will be eliminated: the trend is that way. University of Kentucky students entering their annual period of Hell week observation should realize the gradual establishment of this condition and act accordingly.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE FOR WOMEN

Sarah G. Blanding, dean of women, assisted by her staff and by faculty and town women outstanding in various professional fields, is inaugurating, this semester, a plan of vocational guidance for women students of the university. At the first semester registration period co-eds were given blank forms on which to indicate their vocational interests; this month interviews are being arranged between women students and advisers selected on a basis of the co-eds' interests. Although the guidance program is in its experimental stages, records will be kept of its successes and its failures and there will come a time when it will be highly valuable both to incoming and to matriculating students.

Individual placement has long been a problem to college officials throughout the country. It is for this reason that we have entrance testing. Last month the Association of Kentucky Colleges and Universities recommended and approved a standardization of such testing. Under an extension of this plan individual placement would finally revert to the secondary schools where it belongs.

The individual placement plan is a good one, but it does not go far enough. It is too generalized. This is especially so with reference to women students. Educational facilities in the past have been more adapted to the occupations of men than of women. The courses of study and preparation for men students have been outlined and are fairly stable. It is comparatively recent that women have broadened and extended their paths of endeavor. Co-eds having only a vague and generalized idea of that work for which they are best fitted lose the present opportunity for preparation and are ill-fitted to meet conditions found out of college. These vocational guidance conferences will enable women students to choose their life works with greater insight and more thorough assurance of success.

BE YOUR AGE

The little boy who delighted in decorating his wooden desk with carved designs and initials of all varieties is supposed to have disappeared, like the same desk, into the obscurities of the dim past. With him has, supposedly, gone his fellows who delighted in choosing the most quiet and orderly classroom for their hilarious pranks and celebrations.

They have been not dead, but sleeping. For witness of this sad revival one has only to keep one's eyes open in the university library. The little boy has grown up and come to college, and now, to give vent to his destructive tendencies, he strikes matches on the smooth white walls of the library hall-way or grinds his lighted cigarette into the expensive linoleum on the floor. His fellows assembling in library seminar rooms, regale the studying student body with shouts and hoots and bright remarks as they traverse the hall on their way to and from class.

Last year the university spent some $500,000 to erect on the campus for the benefit of the student body the finest and most modern library that circumstances rendered possible. That students are abusing not only the physical features of the building but its rules as well, especially those in regard to smoking in the halls and vestibules, is a sad commentary on their respect and gratitude for the facilities provided.

Downing Preps Seven Men For Difficult Net Season

Indoor Courts in
Gym Annex

By JOHN ST. JOHN

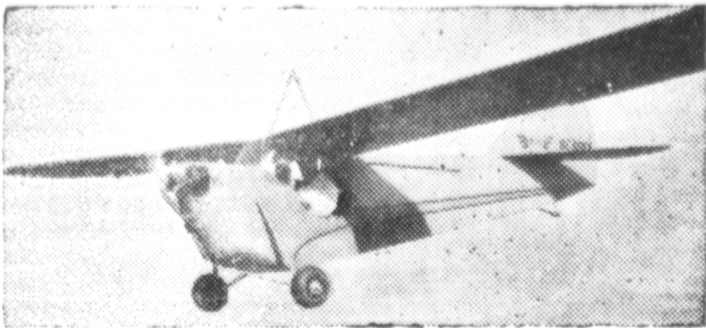

Under the watchful eyes of Coach H. H. Downing, seven aspiring varsity tennis players have been working the kinks and cramps out of their muscles on the new indoor court in the gym annex in preparation for a hard season of matches. The seven men, two of whom were members of last year's team, are expected to develop into the strongest squad the university has ever had. Although there is a lack of individual stars, four men are expected by Coach Downing to provide Kentucky with more strength in the first four team positions than ever before. These four are: Captain Bruce Farquhar and Roger Klein, members of last year's varsity, and Don Braden and Howard Wilson, members of the 1931 reserve team. The fifth position will undoubtedly be filled by either James Bishop, varsity manager two years ago, K. Parke Smith or Turner Howard, freshman player of last year.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By Ralph E. Johnson

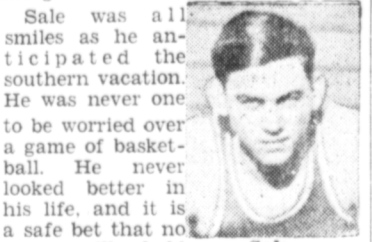

Wednesday night a band of twenty persons embarked for the Pinnacle City, Atlanta, Georgia, for the annual Southern Conference basketball tournament. There they will be watched carefully by the crowds that expect them to come through with a championship, but here in Lexington few care, or at least no one seemed interested enough to venture out to their departure.

Only ten of the twenty departing are players, but the other ten are quite important agents in winning games. One of the men, the Nation's finest basketball coach, Adolph Rupp, will play the hardest ball. Two more will send the red hot news back to this city. Another duo will see that the team is fed and watered; an old timer, Trainer Mann, will keep them in playing shape. "Daddy" Boles and his young son will be there cheering and attending meetings. And don't forget assistant coach Miller.

Just before the train pulled out Ellis Johnson said, "If we are able to play as we did a month ago, nothing can stop us."

His running mate, Charlie Worthington, was not so sure. "I'm pessimistic." Some one suggested that the opposing centers might throw some sand in DeMoisey's "Free Wheeling", but he reminded them that he still had "Floating Power." And in case it is worrying any of you fans, his ankle will be in shape for the games.

Sale was all smiles as he anticipated the southern vacation. He was never one to be worried over a game of basketball. He never looked better in his life, and it is a safe bet that no team will hold him to four points as Vandy did when he was down with the flu.

tory of tennis at the university that the net team has had the opportunity of preparing themselves for their season's campaign by limited space available for indoor practice, a general call for both varsity and freshmen teams will not be made until weather permits outside play. It is expected that this call will be made within a month.

A tentative road trip through Virginia and Georgia has been planned with matches against Virginia Polytechnic Institute, University of Virginia, Georgia Tech and others. It may be possible that matches will be arranged with Washington and Lee, Wake Forest, and Virginia Military Institute. If enough schools are not available for matches on this trip, the team will make a southern tour as they did last year, meeting Alabama and others.

Matches also are arranged with the University of Illinois, St. Xavier of Cincinnati, and Berea college, all to be played here. With the latter two schools, a home and home schedule may be worked out.

Matches with Georgetown, Lexington and University high schools, St. Xavier of Cincinnati and perhaps a home series with a Louisville high school will be scheduled for the freshman team.

A practice match will be held Saturday at 1 o'clock in the gym annex between the varsity squad and the Law school. Joe Kee and Rawlings Ragland, former varsity stars, will lead the Law squad. The match will consist of three single and two double matches.

Darby was running from one girl to another saying adieu, etc., and as a result had no words for the press. At any rate he was in the best of spirits, and if he doesn't break his neck he will be a pain in the opposition's neck throughout the four games.

Kreuter was elated over something or other. So we interpreted it to mean he and Don Williams, had bested Benny Martin and Dick Richards. But we were wrong! They lost after 158 rubbers by four rubbers after relinquishing a 6,000 point lead in one week. The total score was somewhere in the 50,000 (he couldn't say just where) and that is quite a score. The terms of the game would allow the winners to go to the southern conference tourney or take a sum of money. Benny Martin chose to go south, and he left last night, but Dick will stay 't' home.

Little and Kleiser, old-timers at this thing, did quite opposite things. Little wandered about the station by himself just reminiscent of last year. But no one knew where Kleiser was. Just as the train pulled out he appeared from a parked car. It appears that this player will remember home while away.

Davis and Hughes, the other players making the trip, had things to do and Au Revoirs to say.

SULZER IS APPOINTED

Elmer G. Sulzer, director of the university band, has been made a member of the NBC education committee by Judith C. Waller, assistant Association of the NBC National Association of Broadcasters has changed the set-up of its various committees, and education has been put under the program section. Miss Wallen, who is the discoverer of Amos and Andy, famous fun-makers of the air, has been appointed chairman of the committee on which she has asked Mr. Sulzer to serve.

PHI Upsilon OMICRON

There will be a short business meeting of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honorary home economics fraternity, at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the Agricultural building.

VANDY CAPTURES 32-31 VICTORY FROM KENTUCKY

Loss Places Southern Conference-Leading Wildcats in Tie with Maryland Old Liners

HUGGINS SCORES 15

A much-trodden Vanderbilt university basketball team rose to unexpected heights last Saturday night to knock the Kentucky Wildcats into a tie with Maryland for first place in the final standing of the Southern Conference and to spoil the Big Blue team's best bid for an undefeated season in the last 20 years, by administering a close 32 to 31 defeat.

It was an inspired team that took the floor against Coach Adolph Rupp's sick Conference-leading squad. It was inspiring ball that they played to beat a team that had not lost on its own floor in two years. The Kentucky team was extremely handicapped by the illnesses of Forest "Aggie" Sale and John De Moisey, who, although they were able to play for a few minutes in each half, were so far out of condition that their play except for one occasion was of little help.

With just six minutes to play before the end of the game, and the Blits with a lead of one point, De Moisey was sent in for Sale. Two "twist" shots by this lanky sophomore and a free throw put Kentucky out into a lead of 29 to 25; a lead which the "Cats" might have been able to hold had it not been for Huggins, Vanderbilt forward. This opponent, who alone countered 15 points of his team's points, followed the example of De Moisey and tossed in two of the nearest one-handed shots of the game. A free-throw by Graham gave Vanderbilt a lead of one point. With but a minute to play, De Moisey again put the "Cats out in front by a "twist" and it seemed that the game was won. The Kentucky guards began to stall but Huggins broke it up and passed to Marsh.

Some 4,000 frenzied fans who had been kept constantly on their feet by the brilliant play of the teams, suddenly became hushed. March was poised in the middle of the floor preparing to shoot. As it left his hands and rang through the basket with hardly a waver of the cords, the Wildcat followers came to the conclusion that only a miracle could give their team an undefeated season. With only 12 seconds left to play, Sale was again sent in but it was too late for the Kentucky star to change the final figures.

Although they caught the Kentucky team in bad physical condition, nothing can detract from the brilliance of the Vanderbilt victory. It was the second time of the season that they had knocked the Conference leader from their position. Alabama, two weeks ago, was also the victims of the inspired play of the Southerners.

Huggins, the Vanderbilt flash, was undoubtedly the outstanding player for both teams. He weaved in, out and around Kentucky's possible All-American guard, Ellis Johnson and displayed some of the most spectacular scoring ever seen on the Wildcat floor. After the game was over, it was five minutes before the exhausted forward could get control of himself enough to leave the floor.

The Circus Is Coming by Craddock

By JOHNNIE CRADDOCK

Folks, you can't miss seeing the all-campus amateur circus. It's a wow-abow-wow. It will make your heart pound so hard that it will shake the ink out of your fountain pen; your breath will come in short pants, and your blood pressure will run up to $1.39. If you fail to see it you will be certain, between the ages of 16 and 94, to have trouble with your teeth.

The Y. W. C. A. has in store the biggest aggregation of wild animals since the last Pan-Hellenic dance. All sororities and fraternities on the campus are well represented in this group. There will be side-shows, ring acts, and acrobatic stunts by a famous blind paralytic. There will be bands—plenty of them: the men's band, women's band, cigar bands, rubber bands—all kinds of bands. Of course, Jesse Fizzlenote will be there with his famous clown band. Jesse alone can play 400 popular tunes on his bass drum.

At 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Colonel Dick Redd will straddle his nag and lead the nine mile parade down main street. All students should cut class the day following the circus in order to recuperate from the dazzling effects of the glorious spectacle. If you want to have a good time, follow the old saw dust trail to the men's gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday night, March 3, and see the most spectacular events since Jonah swallowed the whale. It will be worth the admission price to see Sadie, the Siberian grasshopper, devour a bale of hay at one squatting. Let's go!

GAMAGE, GREHAN, BOLES GO SOUTH

To decide on commissioner for Southern Conference at Meeting to be Held in Atlanta, Feb. 26 and 27

To decide on the desirability of having a commissioner of the Southern Conference will be the main thing to be discussed and acted upon at the specially called meeting of the Southern Conference in Atlanta today and tomorrow.

Kentucky's representatives at the meeting will be: S. A. Boles, Prof. Enoch Grehan, and Coach Harry Gamage.

The idea of having a commissioner is to attempt to equalize the standards for athletic competition for all of the schools in The Southern Conference. Among other duties of this commissioner, he will see that all practice periods are uniform, and that the same eligibility rules are adhered to in all the schools which are members of the Conference. A committee was appointed at the December meeting of the Conference to investigate the need for such a commissioner and be ready to report on what they found at the next meeting.

Coach Gamage also has duties on a committee of which he is a member by virtue of his office, president of the coaches association of the conference. This work will consist of working out ratings of teams for each of the next season's football games for a new system of selecting officials. The various games will be rated each week end and for the most important games, first choice of officials will be granted to the coaches of the two competing teams, the next important, the second choice, and so on.

Other members of this committee are: Prof. A. H. Armstrong, secretary of the Conference; and President Hutchins of the organization of officials in the Conference.

Tid-bits of College Life

Alice Jane Howes and Bob Montgomery, aspirants for the Lovelorn Cup, continue to hold number one position on the Kadee divan much to the chagrin of Myrtle McCoy and Ellis Johnson....Has been reported that the Mighty Shipwreck is painting his car a passionate red and is the "John Gilbert" of the Guignol....Seems evident that Threedelt Coy Nelson continues to keep her charming personality restricted to various members of the Khay lodge....I would suggest that Julia Oakes and Ken Nicholson would be more considerate of Joan Ross and cut their automobile rides shorter.

Faculty, Coaches Continue To Squabble After Game

Sweet Charity Benefits As Profs Insist They Won The Game

By SUNNY DAY

Although the "Battle of the Ages" was supposed to have been over Tuesday night after the colossal contest staged in the Euclid Ave. gymnasium between the faculty and coaches, this battle seems to be still raging, for both sides claim victory.

Even though the score board at the end of the game showed 20 to 16 in favor of the coaches, the faculty still claim victory—and more than a moral victory at that. They say that the new rules passed by the Kentucky Fish and Game Commission just before the contest specified that long shots would count four points instead of two. Accordingly the faculty won 24 to 20. However, this doesn't agree in any sense with the feelings of the coaches. They say that they won and can do it again; so this may lead to a new battle.

R. D. McIntyre decisively defeated Henri Beaumont in the peanut-selling contest by the enormous margin of one hundred and six cents ($1.06). The McIntyre club sold $23.09 worth of peanuts, and the Beaumont team sold peanuts to the extent of $22.03. In all, 500 pounds of peanuts were sold with a total profit of $32.82.

Sixteen hundred people, men, women, children, etc., paid their two bits to see the event. This served to bolster the deflated Student Loan fund to the extent of $432.25.

Manager Paul K. Walp played every member of the Faculty Players, Wrecking Crew, and Auxiliaries, and the continued substitutions served to muddle the coaches. The Daffodils and Butterflies (personnel of the Auxiliary) staged a preliminary exhibition of some sort. We don't know whether to call it a basketball game or a spring gambol. The uniforms and actions certainly reminded us of a spring frolic. Either the Butterflies or the Daffodils won 8 to 0. We never did know which was which, but they didn't either; so why worry?

The officiating at this event, accomplished by Miss "Margie" McLaughlin, Mrs. "Baldy" Gilb, and Miss Rebecca Averill, was extremely cunctatory, as well as slightly exasperating. Miss "Margie" had an unparalleled ability to hit the rafter of the gym on the toss-up at center. Dean Blanding and Miss Averill showed remarkable ability in staying out of the way of the contestants, but that was about all. The principal game was a cross between basketball, football, and soccer.

There was loud and hilarious cheering when the coaches, headed by their 120 piece band, marched upon the floor. Where Shively and "Skipper" Mann found their red and green underwear is still a subject of discussion. The combination of football and basketball formations exhibited by these worthies before the game was put to good use during the contest.

The faculty band, small in comparison with the mammoth musical organization sponsored by the coaches, showed to great advantage in playing "On, On U. K." They made every body stand up no less than a dozen times. The crowd had decided that that was all they could play, when they suddenly burst forth into "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used To Be." We believe that this was a very appropriate number. The formations at the half were uncanny, to say the least. M. Applebaum showed that he is a close rival of Elizabeth Jones for the band sponsorship. His beauty (or her beauty) was indescribable.

Prof. L. L. Darsler made an excellent majordomo, and made a big hit when he presented the "Garbage" Trophy to Miss "Margie" for giving the most A's to flunking athletes.

The photographer who rushed madly about with a 2" by 4" camera should have some excellent pictures, to say the least.

Wildcats, Tulane Will Clash Today

first round of play they will meet either North Carolina or Tennessee. As Kentucky twice has defeated Tennessee they do not fear them; neither do they expect to meet them, for North Carolina first took the measure of Maryland and it is North Carolina Kentucky must watch.

The Kentucky delegates to the tournament include: Ellis Johnson, "Aggie" Sale, "Frenchy" DeMoisey, Charlie Worthington, "Dutch" Kreuter, Darrell Darby, Little, Davis, Kleiser, and Hughes, Coach Rupp, Trainer Mann, "Daddy" Boles and son, Stanley, Neville Dunn, Brownie Leach, Len Miller, "Red" Reynolds, and "Chuck" Maxson.

Rupp To Speak

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 25—Coach Adolph Rupp, here with the Kentucky basketball team, will speak over Station WSB, Friday night at 6:30 o'clock central standard time. Morgan Blake, sports editor of the Atlanta Journal which operates WSB, will interview Coach Rupp on the Southern Conference outlook.

Council Votes To Discontinue Baseball Team

The Athletic council, last week, decided that Kentucky would not participate in intercollegiate baseball this year.

One of the main reasons given for the discontinuance of baseball this year was that most of the other colleges and universities which Kentucky plays, have announced that they will not have teams this spring and this would have made it exceedingly difficult to get a full schedule with the usual number of games. After the decision by the council not to have baseball, several of the schools Kentucky generally plays, were notified so that they might make out their schedules without including the university.

Members of the athletic council are: Louis Hillenmeyer, Dean W. D. Funkhouser, John Stoll, Prof. Enoch Grehan, E. A. Bureau, Prof. M. E. Ligon, Ed Ackerman, and student representatives, Ellis Johnson and E. L. Asher.

ALUMNUS IS PROMOTED

O. K. Barnes, an alumnus of the university and former member of The Kernel staff, has taken up his duties as re-write man at the Louisville branch of the Associated Press. Barnes, who until recently was on the editorial staff of The Lexington Herald, is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Nuts!

To a few uninitiated spectators of the "Battle of the Ages" (Faculty vs. Coaches basketball game, benefit Student Loan fund, Tuesday night) the difference between the selling methods of the two teams competing for the honor of the peanut-selling championship of Kentucky were not quite clear. Here they are in a nutshell:

- | Psychology | Marketing |
|---|--|
| 1. Preliminary awakening of the campus to the hidden virtues of Beaumont's peanuts. | 1. Utter silence |
| 2. Dignified advertising of the game by means of specially designed posters (courtesy of The Kernel). | 2. No advertising. |
| 3. Simple, efficient working outfit for salesman. (courtesy Commons). | 3. Loud, screaming costumes. |
| 4. No sales talk. No make-up (? Ed.). No S. A. (Oh yea? Ed.). No nothing (Right! Ed.). | 4. High-pressure sales methods (including the mixture of S. A. with P. A.—peanut appeal) and tons of make-up (courtesy Guignol Theatre). |
| 5. Three assistants (the star-saleslady wasting her talents selling tickets). | 5. Four assistants. |
| 6. Results: $22.09. | 6. Results: $23.23. |

Conclusions to be drawn from this illuminating exhibit:

1. You can't always tell.
2. Look out for "pure" salesmen.
3. Look out for "pure" psychologists.
4. Look out anyway.

—Compiled by a disinterested psychological observer.
(Thank you, Dr. Beaumont—Ed.)
